

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

October 4, 2011

On behalf of President Obama and the White House Office of Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships, I commend Fair Chance for its remarkable commitment to youth in our community.

The President understands the crucial role that neighborhood organizations play in addressing the needs of American children. In our own backyard, many youth in Washington, DC, struggle to achieve their full potential. Fair Chance has effectively enabled more than 55 DC organizations to meet this challenge, making the Butterfly Bash a cause for celebration.

Thank you to Fair Chance and its partners for your important work on behalf of our local community. Let's continue to improve our children's opportunities together.

Best wishes,
